THE PASTOR'S POST: Grateful, Every Day

Since we are very close to opening the fourth Catholic school in our parish and, as I have been involved in the selection of some of the senior leaders of these schools, I have been reminiscing on some of the great teachers of my childhood. Not being a formally trained teacher, but very interested in the skills of their craft, I have come to know that teaching is a very challenging occupation, not only for the demands it makes in terms of professional expertise and enthusiasm, but also because students do not uniformly love school or being taught. Commanding the attention, let alone the loyalty, of students is not simple, and the competition from easy distractions may seem daunting. Be that as it may, everyone, I think, can remember a teacher who stood out in his or her own life, and yet it is often hard to say what it is exactly which caused such a deep impression.

It was my great fortune to have been educated by the Sisters of Mercy in primary school, and the Christian Brothers in secondary school, and it is a plain fact that if I had not received the opportunity of learning from these dedicated men and women, I would not be doing what I am doing today. Of course, many children and students are educated today in the Catholic education system in Australia without necessarily being taught by a member of a religious order. It is nevertheless important for people of my generation to recall with gratitude the values of those who, in times now gone, devoted their entire life energies to others. Many of my teachers gave up hearth and home and the chance of a family life in exchange for a community life, devoted to the education of others. Their assumptions about human progress, the power of reason, and their sense of harmony between faith and reason, have all been radically challenged. Yet, in spite of all this, many of the predominant values of those bygone teachers endure and can animate the working lives of today's teachers to the great profit of their students.

The most memorable teachers I knew were imaginative, dedicated and just. Justice commands authority, and a just teacher is the one who can calm a class and dampen its internal troubles without taking sides. A just teacher will also strive to ensure a fair balance between works of art and theory, between practical knowledge and invention, between pragmatism and wisdom, and between past culture and present culture, to ensure students of differing capacities and talents are all equipped to access and enjoy available knowledge and the particular solace and satisfactions which knowledge can bring.

As well as being just, the greatest teachers understand the yearnings of the young for knowledge, both of themselves and of the world around them, and their thirst for acceptance among peers and for the privileges of adult autonomy. Such teachers can easily tolerate lapses of judgement, purple prose, enthusiastic – even extravagant – analysis, because this is all 'part and parcel' of young students 'practising' their humanity. It goes without saying that all of this is done with differing levels of accomplishment according to the gifts with which each is endowed, but also according to the skill with which such gifts have been recognised, then drawn out by teachers.

The greatest teachers I have known also retained an unflagging interest in their own disciplines. They welcomed new art and literature, they enjoyed new directions in history and they were keen to master new understandings in maths and science. They also sensed that a universe whose marvels were known was a universe which was loved and enjoyed, reflecting in almost every action that God was the source of their inspiration and their faith was what sustained them through the hurdles of life.

Maybe they weren't 'perfect' people, and may I add, that I was far from being the 'perfect' student, and even though I may have railed against their best endeavors to impart their knowledge, I have found reasons every day to be grateful for their commitment, perseverance and clear enjoyment of life. Their generous gifts to me are still being opened every day and, when possible, passed on the others

LOCAL SAINT VINCENT de PAUL WINTER APPEAL

The Annual Winter Appeal will be conducted on the Weekend 26th and 27th of June at all churches with a leaving collection. Every day at the St Vincent de Paul Society, we see that ordinary people are able to make an extraordinary difference in their local communities. We are inspired by the joy of the Gospels and our Catholic social teachings to do things that matter. The spirit to feed, heal, shelter, nurture, and inspire – the power to change lives – is in everyone.

As we enter this winter in the shadow of coronavirus, your commitment to helping those experiencing disadvantage, poverty, loneliness and homelessness is still very much needed and appreciated.

If you are able to make a contribution to the Vinnies Winter Appeal envelopes will be placed at your seat at next week's mass. Please help us to help others. Thank you. Craig McMahon . Conference President - Surfers Paradise

STEWARDSHIP REFLECTION - 12th Sunday in Ordinary Time

"He asked them, 'Why are you terrified? Do you not yet have faith?'" – MARK 4:40

Do you really trust God? Is God your first choice or last resort? Is your faith something you just do on Sunday or do you live the Gospel message every day of the week? Many of us know about God. How many of us have a personal relationship with Him? Start now, open your heart to receive our Lord. Talk and listen to Him throughout the day, in all circumstances.

The vision of Stewardship speaks in every aspect of life, inviting everyone to be thankful, generous and accountable for what each has been given.

TAKE FIVE FOR FAITH - Don't rule it out

Rules are restrictive, right? Or can they be liberating? The word "rule" comes from the Greek word for "trellis," and a trellis supports living things so they can grow up and out and bloom. The best rules create space for your priorities, turn your values into practices, and give you the freedom to live intentionally with God at the center. Why not create your own "rule of life" that helps you do that? Many Christians do. Monastic orders, starting with the Benedictines, began this tradition and all follow a rule of life to govern every aspect of life, including prayer, work, and community interaction. Rules of life can also address diet, exercise, recreation, relationships, and mental stimulation. The point is healthy balance. Thankfully, there are no rules to creating a rule of life—it's up to you and God to decide.

(Matthew 5:1-12. "Rejoice and be glad; for your reward will be great in heaven.")

ADULT FAITH ENRICHMENT: REFLECTION & BIBLE STUDY

St Paul’s Missionary Journey through His Letters Fortnightly on a Tuesday

- we continue in 1 Thessalonians and are finding Paul’s style of writing and his great concern for those he has needed to leave behind to struggle with persecution although relying on the help of the Holy Spirit....

ALL WELCOME.

Our next session will be on Tuesday 22nd June at 6pm
in the Parish Hospitality Room.

Our next video from the 20 Episode series “In the Footsteps of St Paul” is ‘Revealing The Unknown God’ - we read about it in Acts 13 - ‘when the Jews in Thessalonica learned that Paul was preaching the word of God in Berea, they went there too, agitating the crowds and stirring them up....the men who escorted Paul brought him to Athens and then left with instructions for Silas and Timothy to join him as soon as possible’

If you would like to participate in this please ring 0409 486 326. This is a great opportunity for us to reflect, discuss, share and enrich our faith and relationship with Christ.

STILL NOT TOO LATE TO JOIN US

I have just purchased another wonderful study series along the lines of The Bible Timeline by Jeff Cavin, from Ascension Press that we did a couple of years ago - this one is called

EPIC: A Journey Through Church History

The Story of the Catholic Church

Popes, Periods, Timelines, Historical Figures, Events and Influences

Steve Weidenkoph comes with a long list of titles, degrees and experience as a lecturer on Church History at the Notre Dame Graduate School of Christendom College in Denver.

Another 20 Week Series, we are hoping to be able to bring to all parishioners within the next couple of months perhaps, so keep an eye on this spot. You will need to once again purchase the study materials, which will include the Church Timeline and Chart, so perhaps if you would let me know if you will be interested I will be able to order the study materials for you.

FATHERS DAY - IN UK, USA, FRANCE... ETC

Although here in Australia, Father's Day is the First Sunday of September, in many other parts of the world this present Sunday is Father's Day. So, for all those whose cultural or national calendar celebrates Father's Day, we join you in saying Happy Father's Day to all Dads. May God bless you and keep you in his care. May the Lord's grace have deeply impressed your children through your love and care. God bless.

THE GOSPEL THIS WEEKEND - Jesus Calms the storms of life.

Jesus is God, whom even the Wind and the Waves obey.

Homily Twelfth Sunday in Ordinary Time. Year B.

“Jesus was asleep in the boat; how few souls there are that let him have his sleep out! He can't always be doing all the work, responding to all the calls made upon him; so for my own part I am content to leave him undisturbed. I dare say he won't make his presence felt till I start out on the great retreat of eternity; I don't complain of that, I want it to happen...

our Lord doesn't supply me with provisions for my journey – he just gives me food unexpectedly when and as I need it.”

St Thérèse Lisieux (1873-1897)

I have never had much luck with boats.

One time, whilst on Lake Cootharaba, in a tin boat we were coming close to the pier and the captain yelled out, "quickly, jump out and moor the boat!"

I had always been taught that the captain must be obeyed in all things, so I immediately leaped out of the boat. Sadly, the captain had meant, 'when the boat gets close enough to the pier, please jump out and help moor it.' The boat was not anywhere near close enough to the pier when I automatically leapt out and promptly disappeared into the lake, but not before hitting my chin on the pier as I fell into the water. The whole thing could have been terribly disastrous (even fatal), so I was very much relieved to discover that my head must be made of concrete, because I leapt up out of the water, which was thankfully only three feet deep at the pier, and emerged sheepish, but fairly well, even if a little sore and sorry.

Later, I was lying in the back of the boat, half dazed and injured, as they took me back to the other side of the lake, and I thought about how Jesus had lain in the back of a boat as it crossed another river. I was in such a dazed state, I began musing on ponderous topics..... such as this.... "I reckon Jesus would have been calm even if the storm had not quietened, and even if the boat had sunk." This is because Jesus was totally and utterly at one with his Heavenly Father, and had surrendered his will and his trust totally in his Father's will. So, come what may in his life and ministry, he was content to be calm and rest in God's will."

For my part, I vowed to be very hesitant to leap into or out of a boat anytime soon!

Not many of us would be fast asleep in a small boat as it is being tossed around like a cork on a stormy sea! Jesus must have been extremely exhausted, needing rest, and also fearless. We may think the disciples should have had strong faith after the miracles they had witnessed. When we are going through difficult times, we too can quickly forget that Jesus is always there with us.

Jesus calms even what seems like the most unconquerable disturbances, just like the storm at sea.

How many times have we experienced storms in our lives and thought that the Lord was asleep, that God was not concerned, that God was simply ignoring us? The Gospel today lets us know that God is always aware of what is happening in our lives, even when He seems asleep, unconcerned and uncaring. The Gospel invites us to a deep level of trust in our God. God loves us and cares for us always and will not let us perish. We don't always understand the ways of God—and that should never surprise us. God sees all and knows all and our vision and knowledge is so restricted!

The first reading today, from the Book of Job, is part of our learning about the divine also. Job finally realizes that God is God—and Job understands so little of all reality. We also must learn that lesson. We can easily think that we know what is best in any situation. So we don't pray and we don't even ask God to give us wisdom and understanding. We also need to repent, as Job does at the end of the Book of Job. We stand in the presence of the Almighty and think that we have more wisdom and knowledge than does the Almighty! Again, we can reflect on our personal image of God and of the power of God."

What "storms" assail my faith? How do I look to Jesus to quiet my fears? The disciples wonder, "Who then is this whom even wind and sea obey?" ; How can I go beyond the "signs" of faith and grasp who Jesus is in my daily life?

Life is a challenge. Couples sometimes struggle with their relationships. Parents have to deal with their children growing up in a world that is sometimes hostile to the values we hold sacred. Kids sometimes live with parents who don't necessarily understand the distant horizons that call to a new generation. Every life has its storms that come up and threaten to sink our boats. Doesn't God care that we feel tossed about and lost? Can we believe that Jesus is with us, in our boat, snoozing on a cushion? We are confident and trusting that he will awaken to our calls and calm the storms that frighten us so?

"Why therefore be disturbed? Your heart is agitated by the tribulations of the world, as the boat in which Jesus Christ was asleep.... This boat in which Jesus Christ is sleeping is your heart in which faith is slumbering. What news do you hear, O Christian, what news do you hear?" —AUGUSTINE OF HIPPO (354-430)

"When he established the Heavens, I was there, when he drew a circle on the face of the deep, when he made firm the skies above, when he established the fountains of the deep, when he assigned to the sea its limit, so that the waters might not transgress his command, when he marked out the foundations of the earth, then I was beside him." —PROVERBS 8:27-30

SACRAMENTAL SNAPSHOT

First Communion 2021

CONFIRMATION

There will be a second opportunity to celebrate Confirmation in October this year, please go to the parish website www.surfersparadiseparish.com.au and complete an online enrolment application to ensure that your child is included in the October group. Use the drop down menu under Sacraments. If your child has been baptised and you wish them to continue their journey of initiation by the celebration and receiving of further sacraments, click on Confirmation (under Sacraments), read the explanation of the sacrament and then scroll down to and click on CHILDREN'S SACRAMENTAL PROGRAM APPLICATION FORM (in the blue box). Complete the form and click on submit. 6 Once you have submitted the form, you should receive an automated response to indicate that your application has been received by the parish team. The timing of a more personalised response to your application will vary depending on the sacrament for which you wish to prepare. The timing of responses to Confirmation, First Communion and Reconciliation requests vary according to the time of year. As the children prepare for these sacraments in groups, our Sacramental Coordinator will use the information provided on the completed online forms to email parents approximately two months prior to the celebration of the sacrament. If you feel that you enrolled some time ago and you have not received sufficient information through our parish or school newsletters, please email Cathy Anderson andersoncm@bne.catholic.net.au

RECONCILIATION

the Archdiocese of Brisbane, Reconciliation follows the Sacraments of Initiation, that is, it follows Baptism, Confirmation and First Communion. The Sacramental Team's plan for Reconciliation is to prepare a program similar in style to the Confirmation and First Communion Preparation Programs. This will be a lengthy task so we are unable to provide an exact date for you to expect an email inviting your child to participate.

I do hope that you will hear from our Sacramental Team before the end of the year. In the meantime, please check the parish newsletter regularly (www.surfersparadiseparish.com.au then go to newsletter archives) for any updates. Thank you to all families who have patiently and regularly checked in with our team to find out about the timing of Reconciliation in Surfers Paradise Parish.

Whenever the Sacramental Team completes the work for the Reconciliation Preparation material, our Children's Sacramental Coordinator will email an invitation to participate, to the families of all children who received their First Communion in 2020 or 2021. If you have any further questions, please email our Children's Sacramental Coordinator, Cathy Anderson andersoncm@bne.catholic.net.au

WORSHIP AND FAITH SECTION - If God is love, why is there evil and suffering?

The first book of the Bible opens with a song of jubilation, a hymn to the creation that is born from God's hand and Word: "And God saw that it was good."

This astonishing and luminous affirmation punctuates the first seven days of the story of Genesis. At the same time, it leaves us with questions. If creation is good, then why is there evil in our world? Why does God allow suffering, disease, pandemics like COVID-19 and the death of the innocent?

Christians do not live in resignation and despair, but in struggle and hope. While they struggle to make sense of the existence of evil in the world, they do not cease to combat it. Because it is more important to try to expel evil than to explain it.

Whatever has to be said about the origin and nature of evil, however serious its meaning for us, one thing is certain: in Jesus Christ, God destroyed evil and its empire. So Christians must continue the struggle of the Gospel by following Jesus, who healed the sick and forgave sins.

The life of Jesus motivates Christians, nourishes their hope and gives meaning to their lives, even as they must continually confront the absurdity of evil.

POPE FRANCIS: Together in love, we Christians can change the world

Pope Francis has sent a video message to members of the John 17 Movement, an ecumenical initiative that helps build communion of friendship and love among Christian Churches towards unity.

By Robin Gomes

Everything is born of a fraternal encounter. Love changes the world, but it changes us first. Pope Francis shared these thoughts in a video message to the John 17 Movement, an ecumenical group whose members began a two-day retreat on Wednesday at St. Joseph's Seminary and College in Yonkers, New York.

The John 17 Movement was started by Pentecostal pastor Joe Tosini in 2013. Despite being a non-Catholic, he felt a strong urge within him to pray for the newly-elected Pope Francis. Tosini has met the Pope several times.

The Movement takes its name from St. John's Gospel, chapter 17, where Jesus prays, "That they may be one". The Movement is holding its retreat on the theme, "Relational Reconciliation, a New Way to Christian Reconciliation".

Children of the one Father.

In his message, delivered in Spanish, Pope Francis explained that the John 17 Movement is about people who, while having a cappuccino, dinner or an ice cream around the table, discover they are brothers. They realize this not because of their colour, their nationality, their place of origin or the various forms of living their faith, but because they are brothers, "children of the one same Father". And even if there were no tables, cappuccinos, ice creams or coffee because of poverty or war, the Pope said, we would still be brothers, something we must remember to say to one another. "Without thinking of our place of origin, our nationality or the colour of our skin, we are children of the one same Father", he stressed.

Encounter with Christ.

The Holy Father pointed out that love does not require profound theological knowledge, which is nonetheless necessary. "Love is an encounter of life, first with the person of Jesus; and from this encounter of love are born friendship, brotherhood and the certainty of being children of the same Father". "Everything", he said, "starts from a fraternal encounter". With life shared and dedicated to a higher purpose, "love can change the world, but first, it changes us." "Together in love, we Christians can change the world, we can change ourselves, because God is Love!"

Love is lived, not taught.

Noting that his encounters with the John 17 Movement and their witness have given him hope and joy, he encouraged them to continue walking together and sharing life and brotherly love.

Very often love is confused with platonic, idealistic philosophy; but love, he stressed, is concrete, as it gives its life for others, just as Jesus did. "Whether you love or not", he said, "the love that became flesh, the love that gave life for us is the way". Love is not taught but lived, and the John 17 Movement teaches love by living it, the Pope added. Acknowledgement of Country

We respectfully acknowledge Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people as the First Peoples of this country, and especially acknowledge the traditional owners on whose lands we live and work throughout the Catholic Archdiocese of Brisbane. And here in this parish of Surfers Paradise, we particularly acknowledge and pay our respects to the Kombumerri clan of the Yugambah people of the Gold Coast. We also acknowledge Elders, past and present and pay tribute to those who have contributed to the social, economic, cultural, political and spiritual life of our community. This acknowledgement affirms our commitment to social justice and the importance of healing and reconciliation between Indigenous and non-Indigenous peoples.

Commitment To Child And Vulnerable Adult Safety

“The Archdiocese of Brisbane holds that children and vulnerable adults are a gift from God with an intrinsic right to dignity of life, respect and security from physical and emotional harm. They are to be treasured, nurtured and protected from any harm.” As a Parish Community, we pray for a change of heart, that we respond to our grief by reaching out to one another in truth and love.
